Bio:

With over two decades of global expertise, Kathy D'Agostino has excelled as an Executive Coach, Trainer and engaging Speaker. She has incorporated the role of AI Consultant into her broad skillset, uniquely focusing on the synergies between human potential and artificial intelligence. This addition underscores her commitment to staying at the forefront of leadership and technology.

Kathy's expertise spans various sectors including medical, legal, professional services, education, and non-profit organizations. Her strategic approach to cultivating leadership and fostering strong organizational cultures has made her a valued partner to many diverse SME.

As the founder of Win at Business Coaching, Kathy brings her rich background of senior-level experience in team building, client relations, and professional development into every aspect of her coaching and consulting. Her commitment to excellence is demonstrated through her programs that both champion and actualize the potential of both individuals and teams.

Most recently, Kathy has become a leading advocate for integrating artificial intelligence in the workplace. Her focus on "AI + EQ," "Prioritizing People before Tech" and "Prompt Engineering" offers a unique, people-centric approach that resonates with forward-thinking organizations that are looking to be competitive, relevant and recognized as industry thought leaders.

Kathy actively supports her community, offering pro bono consulting to non-profits, serves as an ambassador for the Business Council of Westchester and holds leadership roles in other professional organizations. Her contribution in these capacities underscores her belief in the transformative power of investing in people.
